MARIA HERNANDEZ:

I took a break, between 2015 and 2021. So, you know, giving birth to my children and, you know, family and home life. So, you know, giving birth to my children and, you know, family and home life. So, I was actually very nervous returning back to HACC, to continue my education. Only because of, you know, the stress of having to balance everything. But my financial advisor and my professors have made it very easy and very comfortable to just have confidence and continue my education. So I am definitely proud that I made the decision to come back to HACC.
